MATCH PREVIEW

Austin FC is coming off a hard-fought win over San Jose Earthquakes on Tuesday night at PayPal Park. ATXFC showed incredible resilience to come back twice and earn a 2-2 draw after extra time. The team then displayed its composure, making all four of its attempts in the shootout and getting two penalty saves from Brad Stuver to advance to the U.S. Open Cup Semifinals in mid-September.

Austin is currently sitting in 9th place in the MLS Western Conference standings, just above the playoff line as the team turns its focus to Eastern Conference side New England Revolution. Austin will welcome New England to Q2 Stadium for the first time. The only previous meeting between the teams ended in a 2-2 draw back in 2023 in Foxborough.

Austin FC will aim to make its eventful U.S. Open Cup victory act as a catalyst to pick up important points in the league prior to the All-Star break. A victory on Saturday would be Austin's third in its last four league matches.

Like Austin in the West, New England is hovering right around the playoff line and in need of points to spur them forward in the second half of the year. The Revs fell to Portland Timbers away at Providence Park last Saturday night, and then at home against Inter Miami on Wednesday night.

New England has an overall record of 6-7-7. Strangely, the team has earned twice as many points on the road as it has at Gillette Stadium, picking up 16 from 11 matches.

Carles Gil continues to be a driving force for the Revs, with 14 goal contributions in his last 15 games. Gil's game-changing plays have landed him on the MLS Team of the Matchday six times this season so far. It'll be up to the VERDE & Black to keep him at bay and spoil the visitors' first trip to Q2 Stadium.

JULY 12, 2025 • 7:30PM CT

HEAD COACH NICO ESTÉVEZ

Nico Estévez was announced as Austin FC's second-ever Head Coach on October 25, 2024. Estévez, a bilingual native of Valencia, Spain, has MLS, LaLiga, and international coaching experience.

Estévez began his coaching career in the youth system of his hometown club Valencia CF in 2004. He took his first head coaching role with Huracán Valencia CF in the Spanish third tier in 2011. In two (2) seasons with Huracán, Estévez led the team to a record of 41 wins, 34 draws, and 13 losses. He was named the Ramón Cobo Award winner as the league's best coach in 2012-2013.

Estévez then took charge of Valencia B in 2013, and eventually served as interim manager of Valencia's first team for two (2) matches in which he led them to a 1-0 win in the Copa del Rey and in a LaLiga match against Carlo Ancelotti's Real Madrid.

In 2014, Estévez moved to the United States to join Columbus Crew SC as the team's Director of Methodology. Estévez was promoted to first team assistant coach ahead of the 2017 season. He served in the same role for the United States Men's National Team from 2019-2021 and again in fall 2024 as a member of Mauricio Pochettino's USMNT coaching staff.

Estévez became head coach of FC Dallas in December 2021 and led Dallas to playoff qualification in his first two (2) seasons there in 2022 and 2023. In his first season with Dallas in 2022, he led the team to a 20-point improvement over its previous season – the largest year-over-year point increase in the club's history – and a third-place finish in the MLS Western Conference.
