New England began the MLS Decision Day contest with a goal only 44 seconds into the match. Yusuf intercepted a loose touch by a Chicago defender and chipped a shot past goalkeeper Chris Brady for his second tally of the season. Yusuf was one of two Revolution players to appear in all 34 games this season, along with Carles Gil, the 2025 Revolution Team MVP and Golden Boot winner.

Chicago's best first-half chance came in the 29th minute, when the visitors fired a shot toward the bottom-left corner, but a sprawling save from New England goalkeeper Matt Turner kept the visitors off the scoresheet. Turner posted four saves in his 10th start of the campaign. Moments later, Gil sent a cross into the penalty area for Keegan Hughes, whose header missed wide. Gil finished the night with a team-high two key passes and one assist, his 14th of the season, in the captain's 200th Revolution start across all competitions.

Late in the match, Chicago fought back to equalize on Philip Zinckernagel's goal in the 82nd minute, a close-range shot over Turner's head. The Revolution reclaimed the lead in the sixth minute of stoppage time, as Turgeman got his head on the end of Gil's free kick to put New England ahead 2-1. With the goal, Turgeman became the 10th MLS player, and the first Revolution player, to score in each of his first three matches. Nine minutes into second-half stoppage time, Chicago concluded the scoring with an own goal credited to Turgeman.
