Revolution Forward Leo Campana Called up to Ecuador National Team

Striker joins 'La Tricolor' for a pair of friendlies against Canada and New Zealand

FOXBOROUGH, Mass. (November 8, 2025) – New England Revolution forward Leonardo Campana has been called up by the Ecuador Men's National Team for a pair of November international friendly matches. Ecuador will visit Canada on Thursday, Nov. 13 at BMO Field (7:30 p.m. ET), before playing against New Zealand on Tuesday, Nov. 18 at Sports Illustrated Stadium (7:30 p.m. ET).

La Tricolor have already clinched their qualification for the FIFA World Cup 26™, securing their berth in June. Campana owns 18 caps for his native Ecuador, including five matches started. The 25-year-old striker most recently collected two appearances off the bench during October friendly matches against the United States and Mexico. Campana was also selected to Ecuador's roster during the September international window but did not make an appearance.

In his first season with the Revolution, Campana scored seven goals and registered one assist over 24 appearances in Major League Soccer play, including 20 matches started. Over four MLS seasons between Inter Miami CF and New England, Campana has logged 104 career appearances, 72 of them starts, with 35 goals scored and nine assists.

About the New England Revolution

The New England Revolution, owned and operated by the Kraft family, began play in 1996 as one of the original founding clubs of Major League Soccer (MLS). The Revolution are five-time MLS Eastern Conference champions and claimed the 2021 Supporters' Shield after a record-setting campaign. The Revolution also won the 2008 North American SuperLiga and 2007 Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup titles. The Revolution play their home matches at Gillette Stadium in Foxborough, Mass. The club and its acclaimed pro pathway, including Revolution II (MLS NEXT Pro) and the Revolution Academy, are headquartered at the Revolution Training Center, which opened ahead of the 2020 season.
