BRADENTON, Fla. (February 7, 2026) – The New England Revolution and CF Montreal played three 45-minute periods at IMG Academy on Saturday afternoon, with Montreal holding off a late surge by the Revolution to claim a 2-1 victory. New England Head Coach Marko Mitrović deployed 23 different players for extended minutes during Saturday's contest, with Homegrown forward Malcolm Fry providing the lone goal for New England.

Montreal began the match with the wind at their backs, taking advantage to score twice in the opening 32 minutes. The Revolution nearly pulled one back with the last kick of the opening 45 minutes, as Ilay Feingold whipped a cross into the box that was headed wide by Carles Gil. New England continued pushing to open the second stanza, with Griffin Yow seeing a volleyed effort saved and Dor Turgeman heading a looping shot just over the crossbar.

Early in the final frame, Fry cut the deficit in half with his first goal of preseason. The 20-year-old from Groton, Mass. received a backheel pass from Revolution II midfielder and fellow Academy product Javaun Mussenden, slotting home a low shot into the bottom-left corner. Matt Polster was close to leveling the match in the 117th minute, delivering a low shot off the post.
