REGULAR SEASON CAUTIONS AND SUSPENSIONS: Fines and suspensions will be levied against players for yellow card accumulations during the Regular Season as follows: Player accrues five yellow cards: $250 fine and a suspension from his next MLS Regular Season match. Player accrues an additional three yellow cards (eight total): $500 fine and a suspension from his next MLS Regular Season match. Player accrues an additional three yellow cards (11 total): $750 fine and a suspension from his next MLS Regular Season match. Player accrues an additional two yellow cards (13 total): $1,000 fine and a suspension from his next MLS Regular Season match. GOOD BEHAVIOR INCENTIVE: A player will automatically reduce his yellow card accumulation total by one yellow card each time he appears in five consecutive matches without receiving a yellow card, red card or supplemental discipline in such matches. For clarity, a player cannot have a negative yellow card accumulation total; the Good Behavior Incentive can only reset to a zero card total. This incentive will be automatically applied a maximum of three times throughout the course of the MLS Regular Season.

- If a player or team official's club does not advance to the next round of the Audi 2026 MLS Cup Playoffs after the player receives a third yellow card, the suspension will not carry over into the next MLS regular season.
- A player or team official who is issued two yellow cards in the same match is suspended for their next match for which he is eligible, including an Audi 2026 MLS Cup Playoffs round match, MLS Cup presented by Audi, and/or their next MLS regular season match.

MLS REGULAR SEASON AND PLAYOFFS EDITION

NEW ENGLAND REVOLUTION 1-1 NEW YORK CITY FC

AUGUST 23, 2026

New York City FC were back on their travels this weekend for a meeting with the New England Revolution at Gillette Stadium. Head Coach Pascal Jansen made four changes to the team that faced FC Cincinnati last time out, restoring Max Murray, Nico Cavallo, Talles Magno and Jonny Shore to the lineup in place of Kevin O'Toole, Raúl Gustavo, Luigi and Keaton Parks. A quiet start to the contest saw few chances early on, aside from an effort from Jackson Yueill that failed to hit the target. Former New York City FC player Jack Harrison then went close to breaking the deadlock in the 22nd minute with a low shot from inside the area that Max Murray did well to block. The visitors responded with a chance of their own two minutes later, but Talles Magno could not keep his effort on target. Teammate Nicolás Fernández Mercau then drew a save from Matt Turner with a long-range effort. New England were handed a huge opportunity to take the lead after being awarded a penalty in the 27th minute, with James Sands adjudged to have fouled Peyton Miller inside the box. Carles Gil stepped up to take the penalty, but a sensational double save from Matt Freese denied him and kept the score level. Miller then went close again after running through on goal and dinking the ball over Freese. Thankfully, Sands was on hand to clear the ball off the line at the last possible moment. New England took the lead in the 36th minute after a deep cross from Harrison was played back across goal by Miller for Dor Turgeman to fire home. Jansen opted to make two changes before the half was out, introducing Keaton Parks and Mitja Ilenič in place of Tayvon Gray and Shore in the 40th minute. The Boys in Blue rallied after going behind and hit the woodwork in the 43rd minute. Talles Magno's header looked to have beaten Turner, only for the near post to deny him. The Brazilian had another attempt at goal before the Boys in Blue found an equalizer in first-half stoppage time. The goal arrived from a set piece, with Talles Magno's header at the back post landing at the feet of Sands, who stabbed the ball home first time. The start of the second half saw one change for New York City FC, with Luigi replacing compatriot Talles Magno. The half's first chance fell to New England and Miller, whose pace was proving a problem. A long kick from Turner allowed him to run in behind, and although he got a shot away, it did not trouble Freese. In response, Luigi made a clever run off the shoulder and was found with a pass from Fernández Mercau. Unfortunately, the Brazilian failed to get his foot around the ball and sent his effort wide of the near post. The Boys in Blue went close again just after the hour mark when Agustín Ojeda flashed a low cross across the box that was just out of reach for Fernández Mercau. New York City FC were in the ascendancy, and next it was the turn of Parks to test Turner with a brilliant long-range volley. The goalkeeper managed to palm it away before Luigi missed the rebound from a tight angle. Turner's busy period showed no signs of slowing down, as Fernández Mercau then tested him with a low shot across goal that the goalkeeper did well to stop before collecting the loose ball. Jansen turned to his bench again in the 68th minute, introducing Raúl Gustavo and Kevin O'Toole in place of Béné Traoré and Andrés Perea. The two teams battled for control of the ball, meaning chances were few and far between. In the 86th minute, a deep cross was headed toward goal by Miller, but it bounced comfortably into the arms of Freese. Barely a minute later, a dangerous cross into the box required a vital intervention from Raúl Gustavo. Had he not turned it behind for a corner, New England's Will Harris would have had the goal at his mercy. New York City FC were then handed a chance to win it late on when a low cross from Ojeda flashed across the six-yard box, but O'Toole was unable to get a foot on the ball. Ultimately, both teams were forced to settle for a point, with a 1-1 draw proving to be the final result between New York City FC and the New England Revolution.

NEW ENGLAND REVOLUTION 2-0 NEW YORK CITY FC

APRIL 19, 2025

New York City FC were back on the road Saturday night as they took on the New England Revolution. Both teams came into the game fresh off 1-0 victories, with City hopeful of recording a first road win of the campaign. Pascal Jansen made one change to the side that beat the Philadelphia Union last time out, as Mounsef Bakrar replaced Keaton Parks. The Revs managed the first chance of the game three minutes in when Leo Campana ran in behind—Matt Freese smothering the shot well. Campana was handed another chance to break the deadlock in the 12th minute, and would have scored but for a great block from Justin Haak. City would respond with a shot of their own four minutes later. Alonso Martínez managed to get an effort off from distance that whistled just past the post. Half chances continued to present themselves for both sides, but the game remained scoreless as the half hour mark came and went. The Revs would snatch the lead just before half time through Campana. The striker's low shot took a wicked deflection off Thiago Martins and skipped over Freese. Jansen opted to make one change ahead of the second half as Parks replaced Agustín Ojeda in midfield. Unfortunately, City's task was made harder in the 48th minute when Carles Gil's in-swinging cross allowed Ignatius Ganago to convert from close range. The visitors set about trying to find a route back into the game and that saw Hannes Wolf and Maxi Moralez register shots at goal in quick succession—neither able to produce the elusive goal required. Jansen made a triple change just after the hour mark as Andrés Perea, Tayvon Gray, and Julián Fernández replaced Bakrar, Mitja Ilenič, and Jonathan Shore. Perea almost found the scoresheet after rising high to meet a cross, but was unable to keep his header on target. A final change for City came in the 75th minute as Nico Cavallo replaced Kevin O'Toole. Martínez fashioned a half chance for himself in the 85th minute after collecting a loose ball, but saw his effort comfortably saved. Ray then came close after a cross from Parks found him free at the back post, with his bouncing effort forcing a good save from Aljaz Ivacic. City produced several more looks at goal during stoppage time, but was unable to find the scoresheet. That forced them to settle for a 2-0 defeat on the road.

POST-MATCH QUOTES

POST-MATCH QUOTES - HEAD COACH PASCAL JANSEN

On Midfielder Aiden O'Neill's return...

"You could see the relief...He stepped onto the pitch today like he had played last week. You can see the trust the team has in him, and that's what quality does. It's the same when you see [Midfielder] Keats [Keaton Parks] playing again over the past couple of weeks. They're able to calm things down, play naturally in midfield, and settle the team. You saw that immediately with Aiden in the 20 or 25 minutes he played today. This is what the team needs, but we also have to respect the fact that sometimes players get injured and we have to be patient while they work their way back."

On New York City FC's performance against Nashville SC...

"I think overall we did a very good job today [against Nashville SC], given the fact that you are playing against the best team in the League at this moment in time. We limited their chances, and the moments they did get were predominantly from set pieces... Overall, we're trying to build momentum by scrapping points together, but also realizing that we were in very good positions in previous games and still gave them away. That is sometimes a little hard to avoid because you have two or three moments in a game to get yourself on the scoresheet. Maybe you think there's more in it and forget what it takes in the final stage of the game to make sure you don't concede as well."

POST-MATCH QUOTES - MIDFIELDER AIDEN O'NEILL

On if there were any nerves getting back on the pitch after so long...

"Nerves are good. If you don't have nerves, then something's a little bit wrong. But I like the nerves coming into a game. That's just showing that you're excited to get out there and perform in front of all our fans and for the team as well. It was really exciting to get back out on the field."

On the team's outlook...

"We've had quite a few injuries. We're not hiding or shying away from that. And getting a few more boys back, with a little bit more experience, it's just going to help us. It is an important stretch coming up [in the MLS Regular Season]. And we've spoke about that. And we just [have] to focus and keep improving and all stick together and play the football that we know we can play."

POST-MATCH QUOTES - DEFENDER THIAGO MARTINS

On the importance of the result against Nashville SC...

"It feels like a huge moment when we don't concede goals because it gives our attacking players the opportunity to score goals and win the game. Like today, we didn't win, but we also didn't lose. That's one thing I keep saying to the guys. If we can't win the game, we can't lose it. Now we need to keep building and work during the week to score more goals and finish our chances."

On supporting his teammates...

"We [New York City FC] need to stay positive and tell the guys it's not easy, but it's impossible to go through a game without making a mistake. It's part of football. We're human, and sometimes it's going to happen. I just say to the guys, 'Let's go.' They [Nashville SC] didn't score, so we need to keep going and keep pushing... I just try to push them and say, 'Hey, let's go. No worries. We go again. We're here to help you.' It's as simple as that."

POST-MATCH QUOTES - MIDFIELDER ANDRÉS PEREA

Sobre ser un referente para la comunidad latina...

"Bueno, primero me siento orgulloso de ser latino y de haber sido criado en un país como Colombia. Segundo, fuera de nuestros países todos somos hermanos. Para mí es una alegría muy grande poder ser un referente para alguien que viene al [Yankee Stadium], para un niño de otro país que me reconoce porque hablo español o porque salgo al campo con él hablando en español. Es una alegría muy grande. Yo también fui niño, también fui hinchas y sé lo que significa tener un momento de cercanía con un jugador. Por eso trato de hacerlo lo más seguido posible."

POST-MATCH QUOTES - MIDFIELDER ANDRÉS PEREA

On being a role model for the Latino community...

“First of all, I’m proud to be Latino and to have been raised in a country like Colombia. Secondly, when we’re away from our countries, we’re all brothers. It brings me a lot of joy to be a role model for someone who comes to [Yankee Stadium], maybe a child from another country who recognizes me because I speak Spanish or because I walk onto the field speaking Spanish with them. It means a lot to me. I was a kid once, I was a fan once, and I know what it means to have that moment of connection with a player. That’s why I try to do it as often as I can.”

Sobre mantenerse positivo durante una mala racha...

“Claro que sí. En el fútbol hay rachas. Hay rachas positivas, donde te levantas en la mañana, te pega la pelota en la rodilla y entra el gol. Y también hay rachas que no son tan positivas. En este momento estamos tratando de salir de una de esas. Pero lo más bonito del fútbol es que siempre te da una oportunidad más. Hoy no fue, pero mañana seguramente será. Entonces pedirle a la gente que crea. Nosotros seguimos trabajando para dar nuestra mejor versión. Ahora es ser humildes, reconocer que nos falta mejorar muchísimas cosas, trabajar y enfocarnos en hacer bien las cosas simples.”

On staying positive during a difficult stretch...

“In football, there are good runs and bad runs. There are times when everything goes your way, and there are times when it doesn’t. Right now, we’re trying to come out of one of those difficult stretches. But the best thing about football is that it always gives you another opportunity. Today wasn’t our day but tomorrow can be. We ask our fans to keep believing. We’re continuing to work to show our best version. Right now, it’s about staying humble, recognizing that we still have many things to improve, working hard, and focusing on doing the simple things well.”
