The Revolution will look to return to the win column on Wednesday night after a 3-0 loss to Seattle Sounders FC on Saturday in Foxborough. New England leads the all-time series against FC Cincinnati, 6-4-3, including a 4-1-1 road record. The Revolution claimed a 6-1 victory in the most recent encounter, New England's 2026 home opener on March 15, matching the club's largest margin of victory in an MLS match. Forward Luca Langoni powered New England with a three-assist performance, while forward Dor Turgeman contributed with a goal-and-assist outing, two of his 14 goal contributions on the season.

Wednesday's hosts snapped a six-match winless skid this weekend, registering a 3-1 road win at Atlanta United FC. Forward Kévin Denkey netted two goals to give him 16 tallies on the season, tied for fifth in the MLS Golden Boot race. Denkey has found his best form as of late, tallying five times with one assist over the last three matches. Evander, the Brazilian midfielder and MLS MVP candidate, has also maintained a stellar pace for FC Cincinnati, registering 13 goals and 13 assists this season. Evander owns the third-most key passes in MLS (74), while the Revolution's talisman Carles Gil leads the league (79). Cincinnati is managed by former Revolution forward Pat Noonan, who won three Eastern Conference championships and a U.S. Open Cup title with the club during his tenure from 2003-07.

Despite New England's defeat on Saturday, Homegrown winger Peyton Miller continued to produce in the attacking third, matching his career highs with five shots and four attempts on target. The 18-year-old is looking to add to his career-high 11 goal involvements in 2026. The Connecticut native, one of several Revolution players contending for MLS 22 Under 22 honors, was one of five Revolution players to feature in Saturday's contest after returning from international duty with their respective national teams, including fellow U.S. Men's National Team debutant Brooklyn Raines. Raines also made an impact in his return to Foxborough, recording a team-high three key passes against Seattle.

Another young U.S. international is making his mark on the Revolution this season, as center back Josh Wynder, the team's final acquisition of the summer window, has started back-to-back matches. The 21-year-old has paired in central defense with Ethan Kohler, also his partner at the 2025 FIFA U-20 World Cup. Meanwhile, left back Will Sands has started all 28 contests this season for New England and enters Wednesday's fixture on the cusp of eclipsing 5,000 MLS minutes played.

Between the posts, goalkeeper Matt Turner owns a perfect 5-0-0 career record against FC Cincinnati, including two clean sheets. Turner will lead New England's defense against another stern test, as FC Cincinnati's attack ranks among the MLS leaders in goals scored (4th - 58), shots on target (3rd - 161), and accurate shooting percentage (1st - 41.0). The Revolution defense has been up to challenge this season with only 39 goals conceded, third fewest in the Eastern Conference.
