La Tricolor have already qualified for the 2026 FIFA World Cup, clinching their berth last June. Campana has earned 20 caps for his native country, including six matches started. The 25-year-old striker last featured for Ecuador in November friendlies, scoring his first international goal in a 90-minute outing against New Zealand on Nov. 19. Campana also collected two appearances off the bench in October friendlies against the United States and Mexico.

In New England's season opener at Nashville SC on Feb. 21, Campana scored the Revolution's first goal of the 2026 campaign. Last season, he tallied seven goals and one assist in 24 MLS appearances, including 20 starts. Across four MLS seasons with Inter Miami CF and the Revolution, Campana has logged 105 career appearances, 73 of them starts, with 36 goals and nine assists.

The Revolution are on the road on Saturday, March 21 to visit St. Louis CITY SC at Energizer Park. The 8:30 p.m. ET kickoff airs live on Apple TV in both English and Spanish. Listen to the local radio calls on 98.5 The Sports Hub (WBZ-FM) and 1260 AM Nossa Radio USA (Portuguese).

About the New England Revolution

The New England Revolution, owned and operated by the Kraft family, began play in 1996 as one of the original founding clubs of Major League Soccer (MLS). Through 30 MLS seasons, the Revolution are five-time MLS Eastern Conference champions and claimed the 2021 Supporters' Shield after a record-setting campaign. New England also won the 2008 North American SuperLiga and 2007 Lamar Hunt U.S. Open Cup titles. The Revolution play their home matches at Gillette Stadium in Foxborough, Mass. The club and its acclaimed pro pathway, including Revolution II (MLS NEXT Pro) and the Revolution Academy, are headquartered at the Revolution Training Center, which opened ahead of the 2020 season.
