New England battled Philadelphia to a 0–0 deadlock through the opening 45 minutes. Despite Revolution II's attack producing multiple scoring chances with three shots on target, and playing with an advantage after Philadelphia's Sal Olicas was sent off in the 31st minute, New England couldn't find the breakthrough in the opening frame.

Homegrown midfielder Cristiano Oliveira generated two of New England's best opportunities to score. In the 18th minute, midfielder Allan Oyirwoth played Oliveira wide, and the Somerville, Mass. native created space with a scissor move before forcing a diving save from Philadelphia's Robert Pierce Holbrook, who finished the night with seven saves. Just before halftime, Oliveira lofted a corner kick to defender Gabe Dahlin, but the header was also saved.

New England's most promising chance of the first stanza came in stoppage time. On a set-piece opportunity, Homegrown midfielder Javaun Mussenden fired a shot on target that drew a quick reaction save from Holbrook. Mussenden, a Revolution Academy graduate, pounced on the rebound, but his second effort ricocheted off the post.

Revolution II's efforts finally paid dividends in the closing minutes of the contest. Forward/winger Myles Morgan, chipped a ball toward the head of Dahlin. The central defender then nodded the ball across the box to Shannon, who knocked in the winning tally. Shannon suited up for his fourth start of his debut season with Revolution II tonight.

New England's defense maintained its strong run of play, collecting its fourth shutout of the season. Revolution II limited Union II to just four total shots, none on frame. Dahlin and Shannon anchored the back line with full 90-minute shifts, while goalkeeper J.D. Gunn, a Panamanian international, secured his second shutout of the season.

Revolution II have a quick turnaround, as New England returns home to host Orlando City B on Sunday, May 17. The 2:00 p.m. ET kickoff at Bryant University's Beirne Stadium is available to watch live on MLSNEXTPro.com and the OneFootball platform.
